Community Medicine/Family Medicine

4th Year Medical Student Elective

During this 4-week elective, 4th year medical students will rotate in a variety of community health center (CHC) clinics within the LifeLong Medical Care system. Rotation sites are located in both Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. Students will be exposed to a variety of clinical settings that showcase the breadth of outpatient family medicine. This will be an opportunity to learn about how FQHCs function and how our CHCs address social determinants of health. Students will also participate in didactic sessions once a week with the family medicine residents.

Clinical experiences include:

- Full scope family medicine primary care at our teaching health center, which houses the family medicine residency program
- Procedures clinics
- Geriatric Specialty clinics
- Pediatrics focused clinic
- Street medicine
- Health care focused on patients experiencing homelessness
- Home visits for home bound seniors
- Psychiatry clinics embedded in primary care clinics
- Medication Assisted Treatment Clinics /Addiction medicine clinics
- OB/GYN specialty clinics
- Group medical care/shared medical visits such as: centering pregnancy, centering parenting, diabetes group visits, chronic condition management groups, and behavioral health groups
- Point of care ultrasound experience
